

Hi

I feel Wales needs a register/diary or file on lobbying. However we first must clearly decide on what lobbying is and define it so everyone is clear on what it means.

Then a register must be kept. It must be up to date and easily accessible for all. All meetings between politicians lobbyists civil servants advisors must be recorded even those with future intent. They must be clear and understandable without ambiguity.

Someone impartial and away from Welsh politics should do this job so that there cannot be any questions of bias, favouritism or corruption.

If the Welsh Govt does not want to have a register then it makes me feel that there are goings on down the bay that they don't want the public to see.

For the accountability, transparency and restoring an modicum of faith in politics then a lobbying register must be created.

Thanks

Geraint Griffiths-Southcombe