Question	Answer
01	Yes Any developmental disorder
02	Yes
03	Yes
04	Yes To make progress when helping young people with autism there is a need to offer cross departmental cooperation. Local authorities often fail to coordinate between schools, educational psychology and social services. Clinical psychologists in the NHS resist
05	The Welsh Government has an autism strategy. It is ineffective. It is necessary to bring about a change in public sector cross departmental cooperation. If you give 6 months it will take 6 months
06	See answer to question 5
07	No
08	Depending on the LA will make for variations in the time to get a diagnosis
09	Yes You are missing the point. It's the prevarication about getting a diagnosis. It took 6 years from first raising the issue with the LA to going privately for a diagnosis which cost £1000
10	Yes Each profession has to learn to work together
11	A clinical and an educational psychologist
12	A deliberately obstructive head teacher or deputy who does not want to have ALN children in school. A clinical psychologist who will not meet the child but only the parents.
13	Yes
14	If the diagnosis was from a private clinical psychologist or NHS
15	It should be written on the Bill.

	Guidance will meet Government objectives
16	Yes
17	It should happen all the time.
18	It is too late for my family. There are negligible services in the Welsh language
