

Explanatory Memorandum to the Animal Health and Welfare (Miscellaneous Amendments) (Wales) (EU Exit) Regulations 2019.

This Explanatory Memorandum has been prepared by Department for Energy, Planning and Rural Affairs and is laid before the National Assembly for Wales in conjunction with the above subordinate legislation and in accordance with Standing Order 27.1.

Minister's Declaration

In my view, this Explanatory Memorandum gives a fair and reasonable view of the expected impact of The Animal Health and Welfare (Miscellaneous Amendments) (Wales) (EU Exit) Regulations 2019.

I have made the statements required by the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018. These statements can be found in Part 2 of the annex to this memorandum.

Lesley Griffiths

Minister for Environment, Energy and Rural Affairs

11 March 2019

PART 1

1. Description

- 1.1. This instrument makes amendments to The Registration of Establishments (Laying Hens) (Wales) Regulations 2004, The Welfare of Animals (Transport) (Wales) Order 2007, The Welfare of Farmed Animals (Wales) Regulations 2007 and The Welfare of Animals at the Time of Killing (Wales) Regulations 2014. These amendments are to ensure that the statute book remains operable following the UK's exit from the EU and will address deficiencies in domestic legislation arising from EU Exit. Supplemental amendments are also being made by this instrument as a result of the operability amendments.
- 1.2. The instrument comes into force on "exit day", which section 20(1) of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 ("the 2018 Act") defines as 29 March 2019 at 11.00 pm.

2. Matters of special interest to the Constitutional and Legislative Affairs Committee

- 2.1 This instrument is being made using the powers conferred by paragraph 1(1) of Schedule 2 and paragraph 21 of Schedule 7 to the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 ("the 2018 Act").
- 2.2 This instrument is subject to the affirmative procedure.

3. Legislative background

- 3.1 This instrument is being made using the powers conferred by paragraph 1(1) of Schedule 2 and paragraph 21 of Schedule 7 to the 2018 Act in order to address failures of retained EU law to operate effectively or other deficiencies arising from the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union. Supplemental amendments are also being made by this instrument as a result of the operability amendments.

4. Purpose and intended effect of the legislation

What did any relevant EU law do before exit day?

- 4.1 The Registration of Establishments (Laying Hens) (Wales) Regulations 2004 implemented into Welsh law the requirements in relation to the registration of establishments with laying hens, which were set out in Directive 2002/4/EC.

Directive 2002/4/EC specifies registration requirements for establishments in the European Union which are covered by Directive 1999/74. Directive 1999/74 applies to all establishments keeping laying hens other than those with fewer than 350 laying hens or establishments that only rear breeding laying hens. Directive 1999/74 sets the minimum welfare standards required in the EU for the protection of laying hens.

Directive 2002/4/EC requires member states to establish a system for registering establishments caught by Directive 1999/74 and assigning each a unique identification number. Member States are required to ensure that this register is accessible to the relevant competent authority in that Member State for the purposes of tracing eggs put on the market for human consumption.

The distinguishing number under Directive 2002/4/EC was also required to specify the farming method used for the eggs and the Member State of registration. The farming methods and the corresponding numbers to be used in the unique number are defined in Regulation (EC) No 589/2008. Regulation (EC) No 589/2008, which lays down rules for implementing Council Regulation (EC) No 1234/2007 as regards marketing standards for eggs, defines the farming methods as 1: for free range eggs, 2: for barn eggs; and 3: for cage laid eggs. In addition, Regulation (EC) No 834/2007 sets out requirements for organic egg production and the corresponding farming method code for organic production is 0.

The Registration of Establishments (Laying Hens) (Wales) Regulations 2004 implemented these requirements in Wales. It places an obligation on the Welsh Ministers to establish such a register and assign unique identification numbers to establishments meeting the requirements of Directive 1999/74 in Wales.

- 4.2 The Welfare of Animals (Transport) (Wales) Order 2007 implements and provides enforcement powers in relation to Regulation (EC) No. 1/2005 on the protection of animals during transport and related operations. Regulation (EC) No. 1/2005 applies to the transport of live vertebrate animals carried out within the Community and includes specific checks which are to be carried out by officials on consignments of animals entering or leaving the customs territory of the Community. It also includes several derogations to Regulation (EC) No. 1/2005 that apply to Wales only.
- 4.3 The Welfare of Farmed Animals (Wales) Regulations 2007 transposes several EU Directives relating to the welfare of farm animals into Welsh law. These Directives are:
 - a) Directive 91/630/EEC, Directive 2001/88/EC and Directive 2001/93/EC which all related to the welfare of pigs. These Directives were repealed and consolidated in 2008 by Directive 2008/120/EC. Directive 2008/120/EC specifies the minimum standards required for pig production in the EU.
 - b) Directive 2007/43/EC which specifies the minimum requirements for the welfare of conventional meat chickens in the EU, including the maximum permitted stocking densities.

- c) Directive 1999/74/EC which sets out the specific minimum requirements for the welfare of laying hens in the EU for different permitted production systems.
- d) Directive 91/629/EEC, Directive 92/2/EC and Directive 97/182/EC in relation to calf welfare. These Directives were repealed and consolidated in 2008 by Directive 2008/119/EC which sets out specific minimum requirements for the keeping of calves. These include the prohibition of individual veal crates, the tethering of calves and the requirement for roughage to be provided in their diet.

The Welfare of Farmed Animals (Wales) Regulations 2007 also transposed the requirements of Directive 98/58/EC, which formed the framework directive for farm animal welfare in the EU. Directive 98/58/EC sets out minimum essential requirements for all farmed livestock, irrespective of the species.

- 4.4 The Welfare of Animals at the Time of Killing (Wales) Regulations 2014 implements and provides enforcement powers in Wales for the requirements of Regulation (EC) 1099/2009 on the protection of animals at the time of killing. Regulation (EC) 1099/2009 specifies the accepted method of killing and stunning for animals in the EU. The Welfare of Animals at the Time of Killing (Wales) Regulations 2014 includes these standards but it also includes several stricter national rules and higher welfare standards which apply to Wales only and includes provisions relating to the religious slaughter of animals in Wales.

Why is it being changed?

- 4.5 The changes made by the instrument are necessary to ensure that the current legislation continues to operate effectively after we leave the EU. Supplemental provision is also made which amends various references of 'National Assembly for Wales' to 'Welsh Ministers'. Such amendments reflect the status quo as per the transitional provisions contained in the Government of Wales Act 2006 (the rationale for such amendments is provided below).
- 4.6 The instrument amends the Registration of Establishments (Laying Hens) (Wales) Regulations 2004 to ensure that the provisions relating the system of registration continue to be operable post exit. These amendments make no material changes to the requirements of the Registration of Establishments (Laying Hens) (Wales) Regulations 2004.

The instrument inserts into regulation 4 of the Registration of Establishments (Laying Hens) (Wales) Regulations 2004 a new reference to Council Regulation (EC) No 834/2007 on organic production and labelling of organic products and a new reference to Commission Regulation (EC) No 1234/2007 as regards marketing standards for eggs. These references are references to such instruments as they will form part of domestic law by virtue of section 3 of the 2018 Act. Such legal effect is to be provided by the proposed “European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 (Consequential Modifications and Repeals and Revocations) (EU Exit) Regulations 2019”, to be made by the UK Government shortly.

The operability amendments being made confer a function on the Welsh Ministers in relation to adding further characters to unique identification numbers. This amendment therefore necessitates in the view of the Welsh Ministers various supplemental amendments to the Registration of Establishments (Laying Hens) (Wales) Regulations 2004 in order to change references to the National Assembly to Welsh Ministers instead. These amendments reflect the status quo as described above.

- 4.7 For the Welfare of Animals (Transport) (Wales) Order 2007 the instrument substitutes article 20 with a general designation provision which specifies the Welsh Ministers as the competent authority for the purposes of Council Regulation No 1/2005 and Council Regulation 1255/97. Such an amendment is as a direct consequence of the UK Government making amendments to these EU Regulations. The amendments to these EU Regulations confer further functions on a competent authority after exit and it is therefore necessary to reflect these changes in this instrument.

As a result of these amendments, this instrument also makes supplemental amendments to the Welfare of Animals (Transport) (Wales) Order 2007 in order to change references to the ‘National Assembly’ to ‘Welsh Ministers’ instead.

- 4.8 The instrument makes amendments to the Welfare of Farmed Animals (Wales) Regulations 2007, in order to correct certain cross references to EU Directives which will no longer be operable on exit day. The definition of “zootechnical treatment” has been taken out of Council Directive 96/22/EC concerning the prohibition on the use in stockfarming of certain substances having a hormonal or thyrostatic action and of beta agonists and inserted into these Regulations. Requirements in relation to training certificates have been taken out of Council Directive 2007/43/EC laying down minimum rules for the protection of chickens kept for meat production and inserted into these Regulations. This will make no material changes to the requirements of the Regulations.

- 4.9 In relation to the Welfare of Animals at the Time of Killing (Wales) Regulations 2014 the instrument makes technical amendments to remove references to Member States and European Commission officials. As well as these technical changes to ensure operability of the Regulation after exit, the instrument also introduces a functional change. Currently, certificates of competence, issued to slaughtermen by other Member States, must be recognised in the UK. Certificates of competence are required by slaughterhouses in the EU to evidence that an individual has been trained and successfully assessed as reaching a sufficient level of competence to undertake the animal handling, stunning and killing and related operations required of them. The amendments made to regulations 11 and 19 of the Welfare of Animals at the Time of Killing (Wales) Regulations 2014 remove this mutual recognition requirement.

The European Commission has already confirmed that certificates of competence issued in the UK will not be recognised in other Member States after the UK has left the EU. Continued recognition of certificates issued in other Member States would also open up enforcement problems after we leave as we would be unable to suspend or revoke a certificate issued in another Member State in the event a slaughterman breached the requirements of the Welfare of Animals at the Time of Killing (Wales) Regulations 2014. The change does not impact on the mutual recognition of Certificates of Competence issued by other UK administrations, although Welsh Ministers do have the power to amend this position should a change in policy be required in the future.

What will it now do?

- 4.10 The instrument will ensure that Welsh law, which implements current EU requirements for the registration of laying hen establishments, the welfare of animals on-farm, the welfare of animals during transport and the welfare of animals at the time of killing remains operable and accessible after we leave the EU. It will also end the mutual recognition of certificates of competence issued in other Member States in relation to Regulation 1099/2009.
- 4.10 The Welsh Government shares the British public's high regards for animal welfare and plans to retain the current standards set out in EU legislation and EU derived domestic regulations that protect the health and welfare of animals on-farm, the welfare of animals during transport, the welfare of animals at the time of killing and the system of registration for laying hen establishments when the UK leaves the EU.

5. Consultation

- 5.1 No public consultation was undertaken.
- 5.2 In accordance with the requirements set out in the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018, the Welsh Ministers have consulted with the Secretary of State. This consultation has been carried out before the making of this instrument and was required due the removal of a reciprocal arrangement in the Welfare of Animals at the Time of Killing (Wales) Regulations 2014.

6. Guidance

- 6.1 There is no associated guidance in respect of this Statutory Instrument.

7. Regulatory Impact Assessment (RIA)

- 7.1 The impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies is minimal.
- 7.2 This instrument will end mutual recognition of certificates of competence that have been issued in respect of Regulation (EC) 1099/2009 on the protection of animals at the time of killing in another Member State. The Food Standards Agency (FSA) has revealed that there are currently no slaughterhouse workers in Wales who hold a certificate of competence issued by another Member State.
- 7.3 Applying and being assessed for a certificate of competence in the UK carries a cost (of around £225).

8. Monitoring & review

- 8.1 As this instrument is made under the Withdrawal Act, no extra review arrangement is required.
